SITE SECURED FOR TERMINAL

Important Real Estate Deal Consummated.

Great Falls Power Company Purchases John L. King Property on North Green Street—Land Will Be Used For Terminal Station in Case the Company Ever Decides To Bring Interurban Line Into City—Ideal Site.

Mr. Z. V. Taylor returned last night from Charlotte and was seen by a reporter regarding the purchase of the John L. King property on North Green street by the Great Falls Power Company, this company being a branch of the Southern Power Company, the facts as to the deal having leaked out yesterday.

Mr. Taylor stated that the property had been purchased to be used as a terminal station for an interurban line, should one ever come to the city. This does not mean, Mr. Taylor continued, "that the interurban will come to Greensboro. We purchased the land with that idea in view and with an eye open to the future growth of Greensboro. This is the only available site for an interurban station in the city and it was purchased while it could be had. If we had waited until the company felt warranted in constructing an interurban line the chances are that the property might not then have been available. So you see the purchase was made with an eye open to the future needs of the company."

Mr. Taylor stated that he could not say whether the company would ever run an interurban line into the city, but he was of the opinion that this would be done eventually as is evidenced by the purchase of the property. However, whether this would be done in the near future or at some distant date Mr. Taylor could not say. It lies entirely with the citizens of the city, he said.

The property consists of about five acres of land nearly in the heart of the city. It is easily accessible and would make a capital street railway station. The deal was consummated through Mr. J. F. Jordan and the purchase price is said to have been in the neighborhood of $20,000.

The purchase of this property brings to mind the attempted deal whereby the county commissioners was to dispose of the present site of the court house for a modern and handsome building either on this property or the Keelley. It was then rumored that the court house site was wanted for a terminal station. The deal fell through because of a hitch in the title to a portion of the court house property. This deal was commenced about one year ago.

Mr. Taylor was asked regarding the rumor that the Southern Power Company was trying to lease the tracks of the Seaboard Aire Line Railway between Monroe and Rutherfordton with a view of using the tracks for the interurban system. He replied that the first he had seen of this move was in the Charlotte papers. When asked about the progress being made on the southern end of the great interurban line he replied that the work was being pushed and in a short time the cars would be running. This is the interurban line to be built from Anderson to Charlotte with a possibility of its coming into Greensboro and on to Durham. It is believed that the line will come here, this belief being strengthened by the purchase of the above property. However, as has been stated, the southern end of the line will be completed first and it would be two years or more before the line could be built to Greensboro, even though the required amount of stock was subscribed by residents of the city.

Working on Index.

Deputy Register of Deeds Roy Jones is busy working on the new index to the minutes of the meetings of the County Commissioners. This is the index devised by Deputy Jones and made to order. Half of the book is devoted to the index to road petitions, these being arranged by townships. The minutes of the meetings for the past ten years have been gone over and each transaction is being indexed so it can be found in a moment's time. The road petitions have all been indexed and Deputy Jones is working on the miscellaneous items, provision for which is made alphabetically in the second half of the index.

JUDGE TARKINGTON TALKS

Father of Booth Tells of Peculiar Gesture That Lincoln Used.

New York Sun.

Ex-Judge S. Tarkington, of Indianapolis, Ind., father of Booth Tarkington, arrived at the Wolcott yesterday on a honeymoon trip. The judge, who is in his seventy-ninth year, was married on September 10, at Indianapolis to Miss Linda H. Schultz, for several years director of practice for public school teachers in that city.

Judge Tarkington and his bride have been spending a week with the former's son at Kennebunkporte, Maine, and report the latter as busily reviving his play "Mrs. Jim" for Miss May Irwin. The bridegroom recalled yesterday a speech he had heard Abraham Lincoln deliver on his way through Indianapolis to be inaugurated in 1861.

"Lincoln in his speech was accustomed to make a most peculiar gesture which I have never seen described in print, though I heard him deliver several speeches and the gesture was frequently used by him in each of them," said Judge Tarkington yesterday. "Whenever he wished to emphasize a point he would saw down with both hands and bend his knees at the same time. The effect was rather awkward, but nevertheless impressive.

"I see the census makes a metropolis of Indianapolis. When I went there it was a straggling town of some 10,000 inhabitants. I went there fresh from college to be secretary to Gov. J. A. Wright in the early '50. I lived at the Governor's house, and he used to make it his business to see that the State House was locked up every night. He used to take the big key and put it in the lock and turn it himself every day at the close of business, or if he was otherwise occupied he used to send me across the street with it to lock up. I imagine there are not many Governors nowadays who charge themselves with responsibility for such details."

DIDN'T LIKE THE HATS.

Crazy Woman Says Women Are Crazy To Wear Such Head Gear.

Deputy Sheriff Weatherly, who carried Fannie Chrismon to the asylum for the insane at Morganton Saturday afternoon was yesterday relating an amusing incident in connection with the journey. The girl gave him no trouble whatever, excepting she was quite talkative at times, but during the trip two ladies with extraordinarily large headgear got on the train and took the seat directly in front of the officer and his charge. Naturally after hearing her talk for a few minutes they concluded that the girl was crazy and one so stated to the other. The girl overheard the remark and leaning over attracted the attention of the ladies and said coolly. "Lady I heard what you said about me, but I am not as crazy as you are to wear such hats as those on your head." This remark somewhat disconcerted the ladies and they were not slow about securing a seat in another part of the car.

REMAINS OF THE LATE PETER H. ADAMS LAID TO REST

The remains of the late Peter H. Adams, of Erie, Pa., were brought here on Train No. 43. Sunday evening and carried to the residence of Mrs. S. C. Dodson. Interment was made at Green Hill cemetery yesterday, the procession leaving Mrs. Dodson's residence at 10:30 a. m. The services at the grave were conducted by Rev. E. K. MhLarty, funeral services having been been conducted at Erie. There was a large number of floral offerings. The following served as pall-bearers: W. G. Balsley, E. P. Wharton, T. D. Sherwood, R. M. Rees, J. W. Scott. C. M. Vanstory, Neil Ellington and R. G. Glenn.

Jake Spivey Caught.

Jake Spivey, who was hired out to Mr. O. W. Monroe for four years by the commissioners, in lieu of a four years' road sentence imposed in court last week for uttering forged checks, ran away from the home to which he had been taken and was caught here Sunday. He will be sent to the roads as it will be impossible to make him stay with anyone.

Lecture on Passion Play.

A large number of Greensboro citizens will learn with pleasure that Rev. Melton Clark will at an early date give a lecture on the Passion Play as seen at Ober Ammergrau, Switzerland. This lecture will be for the benefit of the Glade Valley school. The date will be announced in a few days.

MUCH INTEREST IN REVIVALS

Good Congregations at Different Churches.

Able Sermons Sunday and Last Night—Meetings At West Market Continue With Increased Interest—Meetings For Workers of Great Assistance—Revivals At Centenary and Church of the Covenant—Buffalo Revival Closes.

The revival which was in progress at West Market Street Methodist church last week continues with increased interest and the revivals at the Church of the Covenant and Centenary Methodist church began most auspiciously Sunday morning. There will be services each evening at 8 o'clock at each of the churches, to which the public is extended a cordial invitation.

West Market Street Methodist.

Rev. E. K. McLarty preached a strong and able sermon last night to a large congregation. The interest continues with each service and the workers are greatly encouraged at the result of their efforts. Four meetings for workers are held daily and these services are quite helpful as well as encouraging. The laymen meet each day at noon in the Ireland Bible class room, while in the Baraca room Dr. J. S. Betts' Baraca class meets at the same hour. At 4 in the afternoon the women hold a prayer service, while the Philathea class meets at 7:30 each evening. The public is cordially invited to attend the prayer services as well as the preaching service.

Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock there was a special service for boys and there was a good attendance. At 4 o'clock a laymen's service was held and a large number of the laymen were present. This service was most helpful and encouraging to all.

Buffalo Presbyterian.

The revival at Buffalo Presbyterian church closed Sunday night with a very earnest and impressive sermon by Rev. William Sikes. There were several conversions and a number of re-consecrations of church members. Rev. Mr. Sikes was reared as a member of the Buffalo congregation so that especial interest attached to his preaching.

Centenary Methodist.

At Centenary Methodist church last night Rev. D. M. Litaker preached a strong sermon from Luke 16:31 "If they hear not Moses and the prophets neither will they be pursuaded though one rose from the dead." Considerable interest has already been manifested in these revival services, good congregations being in attendance at the afternoon and night services. The men's prayer meeting at one o'clock each day is also well attended. Tonight at 7:30 the Philathea class will hold a prayer meeting. They invite any young ladies to be present.

Church of the Covenant.

Rev. D. P. McGeachy, of Lenoir, arrived yesterday to aid Rev. R. Murphy Williams, pastor of the Church of the Covenant, in a revival. He preached an inspiring sermon last night from First Corinthians, 15, 58. There will be services today at 8 a. m. and 8 p. m., the evening service being preceded by a fifteen-minute song service commencing at 7:45 o'clock.

Midway Presbyterian Church.

A revival meeting has also been commenced at Midway Presbyterian church. Rev. W. O. Sample, pastor of Cross Roads Presbyterian church, Alamance county, is aiding the pastor, Rev. J. W. Goodman. The meeting will go on through the week with services daily at 10:30 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

The Street Lights.

Two hundred arc lamps of 2,000 candle power each have been ordered to replace the present street lamps. These lamps are of the most modern make and are said to be the most brilliant lamps ever made. As soon as the lamps arrive the work of replacing the old lamps will begin. When the new lamps are in place Greensboro will be a "city of light" as compared to her present condition.

Will Open Dancing School.

Mrs. Clifton Morris, of Atlanta, will open her dancing school Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Gilmer flats on North Elm street. Children's classes will begin at that time. On Friday night the young people's classes will begin.

PELLAGRA; ITS LESSON.

The importance of pellagra as a disease was brought home to the newspaper reading public last week when this obscure malady claimed for its victim one of the best known editors of our State. John M. Julian, editor of the Salisbury Jost, was a public-spirited man, and a man whose life, taken at the very meridian of its usefulness, was of great value as a public asset.

A terrible disease! Like some wild beast of the jungle that emerges under cover of darkness, seizes its victim, and escapes without being seen, so pellagra, of unknown origin and destined to strike next we know not where, continues to levy its deadly tax on the public health.

And, now, direct your sympathetic attention to the unfortunate victim: Suffering from a disease of fatal tendency, with its true nature unknown, he adds to his physical suffering the mental unrest of the fear that the hidden cause of the disease may even then be lurking in his home to drag down some other member of the family. Repeat this tragedy a thousand times, and you have a mental picture of what pellagra means to North Carolina in one year.

Since the first day of January, 1910, to September 1, 1910, there were reported through carefully collected, official death certificates, now on file in the office of the State Board of Health, 70 deaths from pellagra. Our records do not extend beyond January. Now, 70 deaths in eight months means an average of 8 3-4 deaths per month, or for twelve months 105 deaths. Our registration law covers only one-fourth the population of the State. For the whole State we would then multiply the 105 by 4, which would make 420 deaths per year. Now, consider one more fact in making our estimate, namely, that the disease is new, and not more than one doctor in six or eight is yet able to recognize it. This simply means that a very large number of deaths from pellagra are unrecognized as such. Assuming that only as many deaths from the disease are unrecognized as are recognized, we are very probably near the truth in placing the estimate at about 1,000 deaths a year.

All this is a warning. Is pellagra spreading in our State? We don't know. Most authorities believe it is. Can it spread? We answer by quoting some figures given by Dr. Ed. J. Wood of Wilmington, in a paper on the disease:

"In 1879 the number of cases in Italy was 97,855. About this time in Venetia, among 10,000 deaths 500 were due to pellagra. Since 1881 the number has declined materially, supposedly owing to the strenuous efforts on the part of the government in the more careful inspection of Indian corn and in the improvement of the general hygienic conditions. Next to Venetia stands Lombardy, with 300 deaths, then Emilia, with 200 deaths. Piedmont, Umbria, and Tuscany attribute over 5 per cent of all deaths to pellagra. Neusser asserted that in 1886 in Venice, with a population of 36,588 natives, there wer 1,086 cases of pellagra.

"In Roumania in 1885 there were 10,626 cases; in 1886, 19,797 cases out of a population of 5,300,000. In 1892 there were 4,500 cases, in 1898 21,272 cases. Triller says that in 1906 in Roumania there were 30,000 pellagrins."

Then it did spread in other countries. It is a serious disease, and in itself is a strong argument for a better equipped State Board of Health than one whose total revenue from all sources does not amount to over $12,500.

But after all, there is something of inconsistency in all the newspaper excitement over this new disease. Why discuss the needs for knowing the means of preventing pellagra, when we know how to prevent tuberculosis, hookworm, malaria, typhoid fever and other disease, all of which, taken together, destroy ten or twelves lives in our State while pellagra takes one? Let us use what knowledge we have. Let us have a public health department adequate to investigate pellagra and, what is much more needed, to teach the people the life-saving facts already available.

Let no one misinterpret the meaning of these facts. North Carolina is just as healthy as any other Southern State—in fact, we have a death rate but slightly higher than the average death rate in the United States. We are to be congratulated on the fact that the very large proportion of our diseases are preventable diseases; but as a people, if we do not arouse oursevles from our indifference in matters of public health, we shall deserve the penalty of sanitary indifference and ignorance—disease and death.

And, if there be those who believe in placing the candle under a bushel, who believe in withholding from the public the knowledge of the presence of disease until it becomes well intrenched among us, or those who believe it is hurtful to interpret the meaning of these sanitary facts for the people, may we seriously inquire of them, by what other means we may arouse the public to a proper sense of its obligations in this fundamental problem of public health? To the policy of publicity the writer is fast wedded. Our motto, in so far as in us lies, is: "Ye shall know the truth, and the truth shall make you free."

CAMPAIGN LITERATURE AT THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

An Interesting Collection—Some of It of Democratic Authorship and Some Republican.

Attention is invited to the very interesting collection of campaign literature on file in the city library and which has upon request been courteously furnished by Chairman Eller, of the Democratic party, and Chairman Morehead, of the Republican party.

This collection includes the national Democratic and Republican handbooks, the former containing speeches by three North Carolina Democrats, Messrs. Simmons, Small and Kitchin. It also includes a publication on the tariff compiled by each party from the Congressional Record, a second publication on the tariff by the Republican party, the State Democratic handbook, and a number of speeches from both parties in convenient pamphlet form, one of these being the speech of a North Carolina Republican Chairman J. M. Morehead. A portfolio of newspaper clippings, nearly all of them being stamped with the name of Greensboro papers, give interesting information on campaign questions. The reading room of the library is open from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m.

BEFORE JUDGE EURE.

Several Cases Disposed of in Municipal Court Yesterday Morning.

There were several cases on the docket when Judge Eure convened Municipal court yesterday morning and some time was required to dispose of the cases.

W. H. Dorsett was charged with forcible trespass. Judgment was suspended on payment of costs, which amounted to $7.80.

Wes Craig and Frank Boyd were arraigned on the charge of an affray. Craig was sentenced to 30 days on the roads. Boyd was fined $5 and costs.

Fannie Nicholson was arraigned on the charge of vagrancy. She was given the option of leaving the city before this morning or a thirty day sentence in the work house. Alice Crite and Nannie Mines were charged with keeping a disorderly house, being acquitted of the charge.

Lonnie Ligon was given thirty days in the workhouse for engaging in an affray. Jessie Fruit was given thirty days in the workhouse for an assault.

School Lessons on Corn.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Owing to the continuous and growing demand coming largely from rural school teachers for a publication of the department of agriculture entitled "exercises in elementary agriculture—plant production" issued three years ago, the secretary of agriculture has had prepared and revised a pamphlet entitled "School Lessons on Corn," which it is designed to meet more fully the requirements of the study of corn growing. It is believed that the bulletin will be especially useful in public schools where boys and girls agricultural clubs have been formed for the experimental growing of corn.

Verdict of Wilful Murder Against Crippen.

London, Sept. 26.—The coroner's jury today returned a verdict of wilful murder against Dr. Hawley H. Crippen, the American dentist, in connection with the finding in Crippen's Hilltop Crescent residence last July of a mutilated body supposed to be that of Crippen's wife, who was known on the stage as Belle Elmore.

No evidence beyond that given at the Bow Street police court was produced at the coroner's inquest today. The police announced that they had nothing further to submit.

Death of Infant.

Andrew Kingsley, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Maddox, died yesterday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock at the family residence, 609 West Lee street. The funeral services will be held from the residence this afternoon at four o'clock. Interment in Green Hill cemetery.

DISCUSSION OF NEW CHARTER

Seven Sections to be Considered.

Adjourned Mass Meeting Tonight In Court House For Purpose of Considering More Important Sections of Charter, Especially—Every Citizen Interested In Commission Plan of Government Urged To Attend.

An adjourned mass meeting will be held in the court house this evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of considering, especially, the more important sections of the proposed charter of the city. Every section, excepting seven, of the charter has been considered and passed upon temporarily and the remaining seven will be taken up and discussed this evening. Of course, if anyone desires to amend any of the sections after the seven have been passed upon will be at liberty to make suggestions.

It is hoped that there will be a large attendance of the citizens tonight as the sections to be considered are of more consequence than those already discussed. At the previous meetings everyone has been free to make suggestions and the discussions have been gone into with earnestness and deliberation. The meetings have been of a most pleasant nature and considerable good has resulted. As has been stated heretofore these mass meetings are for the purpose of giving every citizen the fullest opportunity of making suggestions and discussing the advantages or disadvantages of any particular section. The discussion of the charter, which is drafted with a view of establishing a commission form of government for the city, is a matter of importance to every citizen and all should attend and participate in the discussion of the several sections.

The seven sections to be considered tonight are 6, 8, 23, 47, 57, 67 and 69. These fix the number of commissioners, the duty of each, whether the commissioners shall have power to fix maximum rates to be charged by public service companies and a substitute for this section, the power of the commissioners as to condemning lands for public use, and the section pertaining to education.

It is possible that all of the above sections cannot be discussed fully tonight so there will probably be another adjournment to take up the sections that cannot be reached tonight. Everybody will be given an opportunity to express his views on any matter and time will not be considered as the object is to get up a charter that will be best adapted to the needs of the city.

BIBLE TRAINING SCHOOL

Revival Services In Progress This Week—School Opens October 3.

Revival meetings are in progress at the Bible Training School and will last over next Sunday. Services each day at 2:30 and 7:30 p. m. Rev. John S. Kimber, of Newport, R. I., will preach Tuesday and Wednesday at 2:30 p. m. All are invited.

The Bible and Literary Training school opens its eighth session October 3. The past year has been the best in the history of the school and the prospects for a still better year are encouraging. The children's department opened Monday. The Bible school offers a thorough Bible and Theological and English education to students.

Mrs. Sallie Johnson Dead.

Mrs. Sallie Johnson died Saturday at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. Tom Rhodes, at Summerfield. The funeral took place Sunday, the interment being made in the Methodist burying ground at Summerfield. Mrs. Johnson was 76 years of age and is survived by two sisters, Mrs. J. Tom Rhodes and Miss Rebecca Willson. Mrs. W. H. Rees and daughter, Miss Lucile, and Mrs. J. W. Forbis and daughter, Miss Margaret, of this city, attended the funeral.

Carried To Roads.

Levi Richardson, Foster Benton, Oscar Robbins, and Charlie Walker were taken to the roads yesterday to serve sentences imposed by Judge Lyon in Superior court last week.

Some people are absolutely tame that it is quite impossible to make game of them.

RHEUMATIC FOLKS.

Are You Sure Your Kidneys Are Well?

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood. But the duty of the kidneys is to remove all uric acid from the blood. Its presence there shows the kidneys are inactive.

Don't dally with "uric acid solvents." You might go on till doomsday with them, but until you cure the kidneys you will never get well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid, but cure the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is ended. The following testimony will convince the most skeptical Greensboro citizen:

Mrs. W. C. Moon, Graham, N. C., says: "I suffered from rheumatism for nearly a year and when I stooped the pains were so severe as to cause me the greatest misery. I tried a number of remedies but I did not succeed in finding relief until Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention. I began their use and they helped me in every way. Doan's Kidney Pills proved so satisfactory in my case that I cannot hesitate to recommend them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

HAIR TELLS CHARACTER.

Color of Hair Said to Indicate a Person's Temperament.

Many people believe that blonde, or light hair denotes affection and dark hair constancy. A person without hair is not devoid of character; far from it. The disposition of the average bald-headed man is to show such solicitude for the welfare of others, that he neglects himself. A germ causes baldness. Prof. Sabouraud, of Paris, France, innocculated a rabbit with Dandruff germs, causing it to become totally bald in five weeks' time. To rid the scalp of these dangerous germs it is necessary to apply Newbro's Herpicide.

MAYOR GAYNOR'S HEALTH.

New York World.

When a representative of the World saw and talked with Mayor Gaynor at Deepwells yesterday the improvement in his physical condition during the last two weeks was clearly apparent. He has regained much if not quite all the flesh he lost during the month he was in the Hoboken Hospital, so that his present weight is nearly the same as it was before the attempt of Gallagher to assassinate him. His beard, a trifle whiter along the jaws than it was two months ago has grown over the mark left by the bullet from Gallagher's gun so that it is not now visible.

His eyes are keen and bright and the color in the upper part of his cheeks and forehead is clear and healthy. The voice, too, is stronger, though the Mayor's limited speech is broken by the irritating cough that has annoyed him since he left the hospital. When he ventures beyond a few words the cough appears and interrupts his enunciation.

Yet the voice itself is more robust than at any time since the shooting and the Mayor expresses the belief that he will recover the full use of it within a reasonable time. The specialist who is treating him gives him much encouragement, but has forbidden him to make any further use of his vocal organs than is absolutely necessary.

The specialist has further ordered the Mayor to refrain from permitting his mind to dwell upon any subject that might excite him. So when the subject of politics is broached the Mayor checks his natural inclination to enter into discussion touching upon any phaseof political interest.

The Lash of a Fiend

would have been about as welcome to A. Copoer, of Oswego, N. Y., as a merciless lung-racking cough that defied all remedies for years. "It has most trouble some at night,' he writes, "nothing helped me till I used Dr. King's New Discovery which cured me completely. I never cough at night now." Millions know its matchless merit for stubborn colds, obstinate coughs, sore lungs, lagrippe, asthma, hemorrhage, croup, whooping cough, or hayfever. It relieves quickly and never fails to satisfy. A trial convinces. 50c., $1.00. Trial bottle free. It's positively guaranteed by Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

Suspense and Expense.

"Answer me, Clara," he said in a moment of passion. "I can bear this suspense no longer!"

"Answer him, Clara!" echoed the old man in the hall, thinking of the coal and gas bills "I can't bear this expense much longer."—Tit-Bits.

It Saved His Leg.

"I thought I'd lose my leg," writes J. A. Swensen, of Watertown, Wis. "Ten years of eczema, that 15 doctors could not cure, had at last laid me up. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it, sound and well." Infallible for Skin Eruptions, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Boils, Fever Sores, Burns, Scalds, Cuts and Piles. 25c at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

WIFE A HELPMEET.

Keeping House Ranked With Keeping Books and Woman Viewed as Economic Unit.

New York Mail.

"Every woman who has her husband's interests at heart, who spends judiciously and dispenses her household duties properly, is an economic unit.

"And the man who belittles his wife's duties, who thinks that housekeeping has less economic value than bookkeeping or any other business that he may be engaged in down town, is certainly very much mistaken."

At least so Miss Helen Kinne, the head of the domestic science department at Columbia University—a pretty, sympathetic, vivacious blonde—assured me when we discussed the art of managing a home, in her neat and cozy parlor, facing Morningside Park, with its pretty green slope all dotted with trees and flowers.

"To begin with," she said, "the wife is the spender, or the business manager of the home, so to speak. She handles the cash, and as a rule not only superintends all her buying and marketing, but does it herself, and that, if she is a good housekeeper not over the phone or by mail," she added jestingly, "but in person."

"Not alone this, but she sees to it that her home is healthful, that her family is properly nourished, so that good housekeeping is not only beneficial to those nearest and dearest to her, but fundamentally is to the welfare of the nation.

"Remember," she added. "I'm not discussing the social butterfly—the merely ornamental type; I have in mind the woman who takes an interest in her home, who doesn't depend entirely upon her help.

"The only fault I find with even the good housekeeper of today," Miss Kinne frankly admitted, "is that she doesn't use enough machinery. This involves a loss of time, strength and money.

"Women," she said, "should learn to use machinery as men do. They should cease to regard it as a luxury and begin to consider it an absolute necessity. They, too, should endeavor to save money enough to buy machines with eventually.

"There are any number of excellent machines on the market," she went on, "all of which tend to reduce both labor and expenditure."

The Roman Tribune.

The tribunes in ancient Rome represented the people in much the same way that the house of commons does in England and the house of representatives in this country. For a long time the patricians or aristocrats of Rome had everything their own way. But when the plebeians (or, as we would say, the "plain people") got their tribune the reckless tyranny of the patricians ceased. The tribune had great power. He could veto almost any act and nullify almost any law passed by the Romans. Liberty among the Romans dates from the time they first secured their tribunes.—New York American.

SHOE MAKING FACTS

No. 2

CRADDOCK
Vamps, Stays, Tops

We've told the story of Craddock soles and counters and heels — how honestly they are made of the very best leather that money can buy. You can understand now why some shoes break down after a few weeks wear and one or two unfortunate wettings, and why Craddock Shoes are called Long Wear Shoes.

Craddock vamps and tops and linings have their share of the bumps and strains to stand and that they do stand them is because of our care in the selection of the skins and the careful cutting of each shoe part from the best part of the hide adapted to its use.

Craddock Vamps (7) are cut from the "heart" of the hide, the toughest part of the whole skin. The tops (8) are cut from the next toughest parts—the soft, spongy flank leather is never used.

The back stays of a shoe (9) are small parts but very important. They take an enormous amount of strain. Craddock stays are selected from small pieces of the very choicest part of the skin.

You wouldn't think that any shoemaker would scrimp on linings—but they do. It only takes a little piece—it ought to be of the best, but if a fraction of a cent is saved on every pair it will amount to hundreds of dollars in a year. Craddock linings are of the strongest duck—even away down inside where you can't see. There is no seam in the toe to raise the mischief with your feet.

Go to the Craddock dealer in your town and talk shop with him. When you once know the Craddock shoe—you will have found your money's worth of wear—style—comfort.

SHADOW LEGENDS

TAKING AWAY ONE'S SHADOW.

Why Some Races Are Forbidden to Look Into a Dark Pool of Water. The Way Donald McKay Managed to Escape the Clutches of the Devil.

That mysterious counterpart of a human being which lengthens with the day and disappears with the sun, to reappear more faintly with the rising of the moon, which we call a shadow, has always struck the imagination of man. It has played a prominent part in primitive superstition and in later folklore. Shadows or shades was the classical name or figure for the spirits of the departed which still remains in use.

This idea is not confined to civilized races. Among the Zulus the spirit is the shade. Bishop Callaway, whose knowledge of Zulu beliefs and modes of thought was unrivaled, says that the Zulus connect the bodily shade with the future disembodied spirit. They believe that the shadow cast by the body will ultimately become the "itongo," or spirit, when the body dies, and they say that the long shadow shortens "as a man approaches his end and contracts into a very little thing. When they see the shadow of a man thus contracting, they know he will die. The long shadow goes away when a man is dead, and it is that which is meant when it is said, 'The shadow has departed.'" There is, however, a short shadow which remains with the body and is buried with it. The long shadow becomes an ancestral spirit.

Identification of the shadow in any mysterious or spiritual way with the person whose body casts it, naturally leads to respect for the strange second self. To tread on the shadow of a chief is an insult to the chief himself. In the Institutes of Manu, the ancient Hindu law giver, the law runs:

"Let him not intentionally pass over the shadow of sacred images, of a natural or spiritual father, of a king, of a Brahmin who keeps house, or of any reverend personage, nor of one who has just performed a sacrifice."

There are traces of the survival of these primitive ways of regarding a man's shadow in the English country feeling that it is unlucky to cross the path of a newly married man as he leaves the altar; and in another rural belief that it is unlucky to cross the path of horses ploughing when the sun is shining behind them.

Association between shadows and mirrored representations of the human form is obviously natural, so it is not surprising to find superstitions about the shadow mingled with widely scattered versions of the Narcissus legend. The story of the beautiful youth who became enamored of his own image, as he saw it represented in the water, and languished thereafter till he died, has its origin in the belief that trouble follows from beholding the watery image.

"Let him not look at his own image in water; that is a settled rule," commands Manu, the Hindu law giver.

The reason for the prohibition is to be found in the beliefs of man in a primitive state of civilization. The Melanesians of the Pacific, says a learned observer, say: "There is a stream in Saddle island, or, rather, a pool in a stream, into which if any one looks he dies; the malignant spirit takes hold upon his life by means of his reflection in the water." Some such idea as this was probably the root of the Narcissus legend.

The Zulus explain why it is ill to look into the water of a pool by a story of a great beast in the water which can seize the shadow of a man and when his shadow is gone a man no longer wishes to turn back, but desires to enter the pool. He goes in, dies, and is eaten by the great beast which inhabits it. So, says Bishop Callaway, "men are forbidden to lean over and look into a dark pool, it being feared that their shadow should be taken away."

There are other ways in which a man may lose his shadow. There was a temple of Jupiter in Arcadia which, if entered by those who were forbidden to do so, robbed them of their shadows.

In the north of Scotland there are some quaint legends of folk who lost this usual attendant. In Sutherland they tell more than one story of a wizard named Donald-Duival McKay. Donald went to a school in Italy where the black art was taught by the devil, who sat in the professor's chair, and at the end of each term claimed as his own the last scholar to depart. Breaking up at this academy was naturally a scramble, none wishing to be last.

On one occasion Donald was really the last, but just as the devil was about to seize him, the resourceful Donald pointed to his own shadow, which fell behind him, saying, "Take thou the hindmost!" Accordingly, his shadow was seized, while he himself escapes, and after his return to Scotland was never seen to have a shadow!

A companion illustration of "de'il tak the hin'most," from Aberdeenshire, is a story of a witch helped laird watching his reapers, whose shadow was seized by Satan, and who was ever after shadowless. In literature Chamisso's famous tale of "Peter Schlemihl" is a well known example of the stories of the shadowless.—New York American.

Greenwood, S. C., wants the interurban bad enough to subscribe $35,000 to the capital stock. A popular election was held and the majority in favor of the subscription was four to one against. Greenwood has got into the procession.

"The Tennesseean and American" is the name of Nashville's new daily resulting from the merging of "The Tennesseean" and "The American." It's a bigger mouthful even than Wadeboro's "Messenger and Intelligencer."

Word comes from Washington that "it is unlikely that there will be any shortage of money this fall anywhere in the United States." We think we have here nailed the first "canard" of the campaign.

The breaking down of some machinery rendered helpless Saturday a big steamer off the North Carolina coast." "Wireless" promptly started relief to her. It is one of the greatest of modern discoveries and renders traveling by ship much less dangerous than it used to be.

A South Carolina man, interviewed in Washington, declared that Senator Tillman would never again take an active part in politics. Failing health seems to have permanently incapacitated the senior Senator from the Palmetto State. When he retires, the Senate will have lost one of its strongest and most original personalities.

The Columbia State fought with vigor the nomination of Cole L. Blease for Governor of South Carolina. Blease by way of retaliation will start a morning paper in competition with the State. Following the Napoleonic maxim of never disturbing the enemy when he is making a mistake, the State will doubtless continue to saw wood and say nothing.

At Americus, Ga., a seven year old boy procured his father's pistol and, ignorant of course of its dangers, killed with it his little 22-months old brother. It seems that people will never learn not to be careless with firearms. A father who will leave a loaded pistol lying around where children can get it deserves to be prosecuted for criminal negligence.

If United States Senator "Billy" Lorimer were a South Carolinian, the newspaper criticisms leveled at him would be infamous and would result in making him a popular idol perhaps.—Columbia State.

Nevertheless, we believe it to be true that a bad man's friends will rally all the more firmly around him if the opposition is conspicuously bitter against him. It is very easy for a demagogue to make a martyr of himself and influences which are fighting him might find it good policy to give him, on some occasions, the benefit of the doubt.

Says the Philadelphia Ledger:

Addressing a gathering of physicians at Williamsport, Doctor Wells, of this city, touched, but not lightly, upon the food faddist. His remarks will receive a hearty and almost joyous indorsement. Advocacy of the general skimping of food because the occasional glutton suffers, strikes the doctor as being silly. More people derive pangs from lack of sustenance than from a surfeit of it. Despite all the breakfast haters, vegetarians, fruitarians, nut cranks and other starvationists, the normal individual still requires two or three meals a day, eats what is set before him if he likes it, and has no more concern about the process of digestion than he has with planetary motion.

The "faddist" who insists that a man is best off with a few mouthfuls of food a day has undoubtedly done untold damage. Following his advice, poorly nuoirshed people have in many cases, it may well be believed, brought sickness and even death upon themselves. The leading physicians now recommend hearty eating of wholesome foods together with plenty of fresh air and exercise as the greatest of panaceas.

Notice of Sale

I have sixty shares of the Capital Stock of the Huntley-Stockton-Hill Co. of the par value of $100.00 each which is for sale at a bargain. I consider this stock worth par but as I do not expect to go back to Greensboro to live, I am offering it at a sacrifice. I need the money and must sell.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W, Notre Dame, Ind., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money, but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged people troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.

BRING YOUR children's feet to us and have them fitted comfortably with a pair of our School Shoes.

MR. J. F. ROYSTER DIES AT HOSPITAL

Well Known Oxford Citizen, After Illness of Two Weeks, Passes Away—Funeral From Residence of Brother This Afternoon At 4:30 O'clock.

Mr. J. F. Royster, of Oxford, after about two weeks illness at St. Leo's hospital, died yesterday afternoon at 4:12 o'clock. Two weeks ago Mr. Royster was stricken with hemorrhage of the brain and fell on the street in this city. At times since then there have been some prospects of his recovery but he failed to rally permanently from his severe illness and the end came yesterday afternoon as stated.

The funeral will take place at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon from the residence of Mr. George H. Royster, 434 Church street. Mr. Royster being a brother of the deceased. As the late Mr. Royster was a Mason and an Odd Fellow the funeral will be with Masonic honors and it is expected that the Odd Fellows will also take part in the funeral exercises. Rev. A. B. Dunaway, of Oxford, the pastor of the deceased for many years, will conduct the funeral and the interment will be made in Green Hill cemetery, as he requested that he be buried in this city.

Mr. Royster was 62 years of age and had been a widower for 24 years. For 30 or 35 years he had been a resident of Oxford. He had been tax collector at that place for a number of years. He was a highly esteemed citizen of Oxford and news of his death will create great sorrow there.

He is survived by three brothers, Mr. G. H. Royster, of Greensboro, Mr. J. P. Royster, of Granville county, Mr. L. D. Royster, of Virgilina, and one sister, Mrs. J. B. Barnett, of Roxboro.

SHE SMILES AND SHINES.

Spokane's Woman Bootblack Was Once A Retoucher of Photographs.

Spokane Spokesman Review.

With a winsome smile and a twinkle of the eyes that would do justice to the leading lady of a high-class opera, Mme. Holland, Spokane's only woman bootblack, who has a stand in the lobby of the Columbia Building, is working up a business which is likely to surpass that of male competitors.

"Why have I taken up the business of a bootblack? Why, most assurely to make money," said Mme. Holland as she deftly applied the polish and brushes.

"No, Mme. Holland is not my true name, the only thing true about it being that I am a madame, as I was married once, and after my husband died I was left to make my own way in the world," continued the girl with the brushes. "I was a retoucher of photographs, but my eyes failed me and for a while I was afraid I might be blind. I was in California at the time, and really I was at a loss what to do. I looked about there for several days, and, observing a young woman shining shoes in one of the leading blocks in San Francisco, the idea came to me like a flash: Why could not I do the same? Of course I thought of my folk at home and knew if they realized I was doing anything like that they would feel badly. Consequently I decided to go to a city where I was not known, where I could take a name and never give my real identity away.

"When I first applied for a stand in this building the agent asked if I was joking. Not so, I told him. It is a real serious matter with me, and I mean what I say. I have showed that I meant what I said by buying this equipment, and although I have been here less than two weeks, I think the agent and others who thought me joking have seen their mistake.

"My shoulders and hands troubled me at first when I started in, but they are getting used to it now and I like my work more and more. I was born in the South, educated in the public schools, was agraduate of a high school in a large Southern town and my people travel in the best of society. I do not feel that I have lowered my social position in the least by becoming a woman bootblack. Every cent I earn is got honestly, and for that reason I am content.

"Many prominent men of the country started out as bootblacks and if woman suffrage wins out who knows but I will be elected the first woman President of the United States or become a great leader of finance," laughingly said the madame.

Baseball Saturday.

Saturday at Cone Park the baseball teams of the T. P. A. and U. C. T. will play the final game of the season. Both teams have won a game and the Saturday game will decide the championship. The game will begin at 3:30 o'clock. Admission free.

To Sell "Cedars."

Mr. J. F. Jordan has taken charge of the handsome property of Dr. J. T. J. Battle, known as the "Cedars," and is dividing the property up into lots. These will be sold at auction on Oct. 10. The property is located on North Mendenhall street and the site is an ideal one.

Some people only tell the truth on the twenty-second of February.

WHY HE DOES IT.

It isn't often that we have faith enough in the medicines put up by other people to be willing to offer to refund the money if it does not cure, said Druggist Gardner to one of his many customers, "but I am glad to sell Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia on that plan.

"The Dr. Howard Co., in order to get a quick introductory sale authorized me to sell the regular fifty cent bottle of their specific for half price, 25 cents, and although I have sold a lot of it, and guaranteed every package, not one has been brought back as unsatisfactory."

There are sixty doses in a vial that can be carried in the vest pocket or purse, and every one has more medicinal power than a big pill or tablet or a tumbler of mineral water.

Any person who is subject to constipation, sick headache, dizziness, liver trouble, indigestion or a general played out condition, ought to take advantage of this opportunity.

A Good Position

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or Railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph institute operates six official institutes in America, under supervision of R .R. and Wireless Officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Cincinnati, O., Philadelphia, Pa., Memphis, Tenn., Davenport, Ia., Columbia, S. C., or Portland, Ore., according to where you wish to enter.

MR. WEARN WANTS OUT.

Indicates That He Is Tired of Running Baseball and Will Tender the Job To Some Other Man.

Charlotte Observer.

President J. H. Wearn of the Carolina Association again wants to step down and out. The league directors who will meet in this city in a few days will have to bring much pressure to bear upon Mr. Wearn to retain him in harness. The worries and troubles incident to the presidency of the league are too much for him, according to his own notion, and then, too, he thinks he has held the job long enough.

The composition of the Carolina League in the future is at this time problematical, but no matter what changes may occur in the towns making up the circuit, nothing worse for it could happen than to have Mr. Wearn get out. He has made the league what it is today, and his services during the season just closed were invaluable. It really was the most successfully managed of any during the life of the organization. Mr. Wearn has rounded out his third year as president of the league and the directors are to a man thoroughly in sympathy with his ideas of running a circuit.

B. Y. P. U. Reorganized.

Sunday night at the First Baptist church the Baptist Young People's Union was reorganized, there being a large attendance of the young people, and the work was entered into with enthusiasm. Mr. D. H. Wilcox was elected president.

"I am living on the fat of the land," said the man who was making a fortune with an obesity cure.

Freckle-Face

If the Summer Brought Out Unsightly Spots. You Can Remove Them Easily.

Do you know how easily it is to remove those ugly spots so that no one will call you freckle-face?

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength, from Howard Gardner and one night's treatment will show you how easy it is to rid yourself of freckles and get a beautiful complexion.

Now that the summer has brought its crop of freckles to most women, there is an unusual demand for Othine and in September the druggist sometimes find it difficult to get sufficient to supply all calls. Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as it is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

WHAT EDWARD VII ATE.

McClure's Magazine.

At Biarritz so strictly mapped out were his days that what King Edward called rest admitted of a singularly active life. Rising regularly at 7 o'clock in the morning, he began by taking a warm bath and drinking a glass of milk, after which he proceeded to dress. At 10 o'clock breakfast was served, consisting of a large cup of coffee and milk, boiled eggs, grilled bacon and fried fish, with a marked preference for smelts and small trout.

He next sat down at his writing table, which he did not leave until 12:15 for his daily walk, which lasted until lunch time, 1 o'clock. Lunch invariably included plover's eggs, hard boiled, with a touch of paprika, followed by trout, salmon or grilled soles, a meat dish and stewed fruit. Plover's eggs, asparagus and strawberries were his favorite fare; he hated butcher's meat, and could endure nothing heavier than chicken, except an occasional slice of lamb.

The evening meal, which was fixed at 8:15, was generally pretty copious, and the King enjoyed having people whom he honored with his friendship to dinner; but covers were never laid for more than 10. The King at his meals drank Chabilis and a mineral water, dry champagne and occasionally claret, with a glass of brandy at dessert. His favorite drink between meals was whiskey and soda.

Don't Break Down.

Severe strains on the vital organs, like strains on machinery, cause breakdowns. You can't over-tax stomach, liver, kidneys, bowels or nerves without serious danger to yourself. If you are weak or run-down, or under strain of any kind, take Electric Bitters the matchless, tonic medicine. Mrs. J. E. Van de Sande, of Kirkland, Ill., writes: "That I did not break down, while enduring a most severe strain, for three months, is due wholly to Electric Bitters." Use them and enjoy health and strength. Satisfaction positively guaranteed. 50c at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

Defoe and Savings Banks.

Though Duncan of Duthwell was the founder of our first savings bank, the first suggestion came from Daniel Defoe. When he found himself compelled to hide from the bailiffs in a small Bristol inn he turned his enforced leisure and financial failure to account by writing the "Essay on Projects." It deals with savings banks, friendly societies, insurance, academies and bankrupts. On all these subjects Defoe offers from his fertile brain suggestions that startle the reader by their modern ring. On bankrupts and savings banks Defoe naturally wrote with feeling. During his stay in Bristol he was known as "the Sunday gentleman," owing to his natural unwillingness to take the air except on that day of the week which deprived bailiffs of their sting.—London Chronicle.

A Cup of Sugar.

A large china cup with a handle was shoved across the counter and a child's voice said, "Ma wants a cupful of sugar."

The grocer filled the cup, weighed the sugar, poured it back into the cup and said, "Two cents."

To a customer who expressed surprise at his willingness to sell groceries in such small quantities he said:

"Have to in this neighborhood. Most of these people live from meal to meal, which means that they buy things by measure instead of weight. Reckoned by the cupful, the spoonful or the pailful, they know just how much of anything they need. In order to satisfy both customers and the inspector of weights and measures we measure first to suit the trade, then weigh afterward."—New York Sun.

His Trick.

A pearl belonging to her brooch had got fastened in the lace of her collar. He offered to disentangle it.

"That's a great trick of mine," he said as he wrestled with it. "Separating pearls from"—

"People?" she interrupted in a fright.

"No," said he; "from laces."—New York Press.

Knew What He Was Doing.

Booky (from whom old gent has just received 5 sovereigns at 4 to 1)—Now, then, Santa Claus, what are you biting 'em for? Do you think I'd give you wrong uns? Old Gent—Noa, laddy, it's no that; I'm just making sure that I haven't got that one back which I passed off on thee!—London Punch.

A Poultry Fable.

The hen returned to her nest and found it empty.

"Very funny," said she; "I can never find things where I lay them."—Lippincott's.

For one who can stand prosperity there are a hundred that will stand adversity.—Carlyle.

"LITTLE DORRIT" DEAD.

London Cor. N. Y. Tribune.

A link with Charles Dickens has been severed by the death at Southsea of Mrs. G. M. Hayman, one of his close personal friends, who is said by her family to have been the original of Little Dorrit. She would have reached her eighty-first birthday next month.

Mrs. Hayman's father was a solicitor, living in London, and was for years an intimate friend of Dickens. The novelist was a frequent visitor at his house and took keen interest in all the members of his family.

Mrs. Hayman's brother, who died while still a lad, is said to have inspired another Dickens character ,Tiny Tim. The boy met with an accident while at play, being impaled on some railings, but he was a cheery little fellow in spite of the injury that made him a cripple.

The Gratitude of Elderly People.

A Shrewd Surmise.

"What's the meaning of all these recent railway pools?" inquired and old lady. "Is it the effect of the damp summer?"—London Punch.

Two Short Words,

"The best," well describes the satisfaction every user feels when he tries Vick's Croup and Pneumonia Salve for his head or chest cold, or his croupy child. It is a comfort, a cure and a joy. Try a jar and get your money back if not pleased.

"Man wants but little here below," quoted the Wise Guy. "It's hard to believe that when we look over the columns of want ads in the newspapers" remarked ,the Simple Mug.

A Man of Iron Nerve.

Indomitable will and tremendous energy are never found where Stomach, Liver, Kidney and Bowels are out of order. If you want these qualities and the success they bring, use Dr. King's New Life Pills, the matchless regulators, for keen brain and strong body. 25c at Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

A Valuable Bulletin of Scuppernong Grapes.

The North Carolina Experiment Station has just issued a very important Bulletin on "Self-Sterility of the Scuppernong and Other Muscadine Grapes." The results reported in this bulletin show conclusively that these grapes are self-sterile, that is, will not produce normal fruit unless fertilized by pollen from male grape vines. These results were obtained by (1) covering the branches during the blooming season, (2) a study of the germinating flower of the pollen, (3) microscopic study of the dry pollen, (4) examination of the structure of the flowers, and (5) the influence of male pollen on the crop.

The second part of the Bulletin discusses the application of these results. It deals with the kinds of male vines to plant, where to plant them for best results, and the number of such vines required in a vineyard. It also discusses the influence which weather and pruning have on the yield. One of the most valuable subjects treated is that dealing with the growing of these grapes from seeds.

This Bulletin is No. 209 and is for free distribution to residents of North Carolina. It can be had by writing to Director C. B. Williams, Experiment Station, West Raleigh, N. C.

A Reliable Medicine—NOT A NARCOTIC

Mrs. F. Marti, St. Joe, Mich., says Foley's Honey and Tar saved her little boy's life. She writes: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar in which I have great faith. It cured the cough as well as the choking and gagging spells, and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar has many times saved us much trouble and we are never without it in the house." Sold by all Druggists.

Tommy—"Pop, what is an octopus?" Tommy's Pop—"An octopus, my son, is a monster to be found principally in political cartoons."

Your kidney trouble may be of long standing, it may be either acute or chronic, but whatever it is Foley's Kidney Remedy will aid you to get rid of it quickly and restore your natural health and vigor. "One bottle of Foley's Kidney Remedy made me well," said J. Sibbull, of Grand View, Wis. Commence taking it now." Sold by all Druggists.

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Bad Breath, Belching of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

The genuine has on its outside wrapper the Signature

You can't afford to accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this non-alcoholic, medicine OF KNOWN COMPOSITION, not even though the urgent dealer may thereby make a little bigger profit.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules, easy to take as candy.

This Hosiery is Absolutely Insured Against Holes for Six Months

We have just secured the selling agency for the famous Holeproof Hosiery in this city. This is the original guaranteed hosiery that has been so widely advertised in the magazines but which has never yet been on sale at any store in town.

The guarantee which we reproduce on this page comes with every box of the hosiery. It is a promise that we will gladly redeem—if any of the hosiery needs darning or mending within six months it will be exchanged for new hosiery.

The manufacturers of this hosiery stand back of us in making this guarantee. They have used only the finest and best materials the market affords. They pay 63 cents a pound for Egyptian and Sea Island cotton, instead of buying the ordinary cotton at 12 cents a pound.

Every pair is stylish as well as comfortable. They are made to fit the ankle as smoothly as a glove fits the hand. They are soft and dainty yet they outwear other hosiery almost six to one.

Men's hose come in eleven colors and women's in six. Price from $1.50 to $3 a box of six pairs. Children's hose come only in black and tan at $2 a box of six pairs.

FAMOUS Holeproof Hosiery FOR MEN WOMEN AND CHILDREN

There is only one difference between the common hosiery and "Holeproof." And that is that "Holeproof" wears six times as long as the other. Yet the price for both is the same.

"Holeproof" is made with 3-ply yarn in the body and 6-ply in the heels, toes and knees. This gives double the strength where the wear comes most.

Every pair is minutely inspected before it leaves the factory. It costs $30,000 a year for this inspection alone so you understand something of the quality that goes in "Holeproof."

It has taken 31 years to attain this perfection but the sales now amount to more than 3,000,000 pairs every year. No other guaranteed hosiery begins to equal such tremendous sales as this.

We invite everyone to call and examine this wonderful hosiery before purchasing. We want you to note how soft and comfortable it really is. We want you to see the attractive colors for yourself and to note the stylish appearance.

We know that once you have done this you will never again be satisfied with the common hosiery that costs just as much but needs to be darned every week.

Rev. S. M. Rankin's Brother Dead.

His many friends in the city and county will learn with regret of the death of Mr. Dolly Rankin, brother of Rev. S. M. Rankin, which occurred at the home of his father, near McLeansville, Sunday. Mr. Rankin was about 35 years of age. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock from Bethel Presbyterian church, conducted by the pastor. The interment followed in the family burying ground.

Fell Into His Own Trap.

Georgetown, Miss., Sept. 26.—J. B. Beasley, a prominent merchant and postmaster of Rockport, near here met death in a peculiar manner yesterday. Several weeks ago burglars robbed Beasley's store and the postoffice. In expectation of another visit from the burglars Beosley had set a loaded shotgun so that when the door was opened the gun would be discharged. Forgetting the trap he had laid, Beasley attempted to enter this entrance and the gun was discharged, killing him almost instantly.

Millinery Opening At Meyer's.

Meyer's Department Store was the mecca for the femininity of Greensboro yesterday and from early morning till the closing hour the place was thronged with women who were charmed with the magnificent millinery display. The annual fall millinery opening of this popular store began yesterday morning and will continue today. Each season has its own distinctive features. The styles of a month ago are today tabooed, and not a single woman of fashion would consider for a moment the purchase of a hat which was not fashioned after the Parisian models. The buyers for this mammoth store have simply surpassed themselves in their purchases for this season and the display is one of much splendor and gorgeousness. 1t

Southern's Great Excursion to Florida.

The Southern's very low rate excursion to Jacksonville and Tampa, Fla., leaves tonight, the round trip being only $7.00 and $9.00 respectively which is the lowest rate ever offered on an excursion and it is expected that many will take advantage of this unusual opportunity for a trip to the "Land of Flowers." In fact it is given out at the Southern's local ticket office here that from the present indications this will be the best patronized excursion of the season. Those who desire Pullman accommodations should make application at once as the space is rapidly being taken up. Passengers from Greensboro and vicinity can leave Greensboro on either train No. 35 at 6:10 p. m. or No. 43 at 7:20 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 27th and make connection with the special train at Charlotte. 1t
